Experience It! Crazy Horse Monument

Crazy Horse Memorial, the world's largest sculpture now in progress, is located in the Black Hills of South Dakota. The nine-story-high face of Crazy Horse, a visionary leader committed to preserving the traditions and values of the Lakota way of life, was completed in 1998 when work shifted to the 22-story-high massive horse's head. The work was begun in 1948 by sculptor Korczak Ziolkowski at the request of Native Americans. Korczak determined that the memorial would be more than just a sculpture...it would be a humanitarian project telling present and future generations the story of Native American peoples by collecting and preserving outstanding examples of Indian culture and heritage. Visitors to the memorial can view the progress of the sculpture as well as tour an Indian museum, cultural center, the sculptor's studio and orientation center. Although Korczak died in 1982, his wife Ruth and their family continue the project working with the Crazy Horse Memorial Foundation.

Rapid City, SD

A Walk in Dakota Thyme

$40 USD

Rapid City is considered by many to be the most patriotic city in America. To prove it, they've lined their downtown streets with historic faces. Join us on a stroll of the downtown area past a series of life-size bronze statues of our nation's presidents. Artists were commissioned to research extensively into the life of each president and offer insight into the personality and the presidency of its subject. You'll delight as the statues appear to come to life. Then, relax in a local café where you'll have the opportunity to choose from a selection of desserts and beverages. Once refreshed, we'll visit one of the West's most impressive museums and discover why the Sioux called their sacred Black Hills the "Center of the Universe." The Journey Museum takes you on an incredible trek through time as it tells the story of the Black Hills through interactive displays. When your journey is complete, you'll fully understand the legacy of the land and its people. Duration: Approximately 5 hours. Please note a minimum of 15 passengers is required. Transportation is included.
